

Statoil Tanzania has been recognized by the President of Tanzania for their contributions to tertiary education and skill development in Tanzania, and acknowledges the efforts made by NTNU and EnPe through the ANTHER program

Statoil would like to acknowledge the cooperation from local and international higher learning institutions , ANTHER was the first project to begin before the large discoveries in Tanzania, and through the experience from ANTHER we were able to establish more similar programs. In this regard we have a very good relationship with NTNU and EnPe at large and we would specifically like to acknowledge the big support and tireless efforts made by Prof. Jon Kleppe and Prof. Egil Tjøland from NTNU in supporting this initiative, which they started in Angola and then extended to Tanzania.
